

MONASTIR IS NEARING SURRENDER

ALLIES WITH SERBS
PRESS ATTACK IN
THE EAST.

RUSSIA STANDS PAT

CZAR WILL NOT CON-CLUDE PEACE WITH KAISER.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The capture of Monastir which will be the first decisive victory the allies have won in the Balkans is imminent, according to despatches from Saloniki today. Fighting their way forward in the mountains through deep mud and blinding snow-storms the soldiers of four nations are closing in on the important Macedonian city from two sides.

The Bulgarians and German defenders who were compelled to withdraw from the mountain positions north of the Tcherma river, have fallen back to a point about four miles from the city. Monastir has been violently bombarded by the allies' artillery and allied armies have attacked it from the air.

In the Rumanian territory the reinforced armies of General Von Falkenhayn have approached closer to Campolung, but on the eastern frontier the Austro-German forces were compelled to retire at several points.

Monastir, for which the allied armies in Macedonia have been fighting for weeks, was captured by the Bulgarians at the close of Von Mackensen's drive through Serbia last winter. It was strongly fortified and had been used as a base of operations for the Bulgarians and Germans on the western end of the Balkan front. It is ten miles within Serbian soil and lies at the end of a railway line which runs to Saloniki. Monastir is on the edge of the Monastir plain at the base of a mountain range which the Bulgars and Germans had turned into a fortress.

RUSSIA STANDS PAT.

Will Not Make Separate Peace With Teutonic Allies.

BERLIN, via Sayville, Nov. 17.—The Anglo-French attempt to smash the German defenses of Bapaume on the Somme front, has been renewed. The German war office announced today that the British attacked near Beaumont and Lesars and that the French attacked at Sailly Salles. All of the assaults were repulsed.

At the same time the Germans delivered strong counter attacks that cleared the western side of the Fleurs-Thilly road of allied troops. The attacks were made after violent bombardment of the German positions both north and south of the Ancre. The British in that sector are now trying to batter their way through the German works on the Miraumont-Grandcourt line.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 7.—Persistent reports that Russia will conclude a separate peace, were formally denied today. According to information from a semi-official source the foreign office has sent telegrams to all Russian representatives in the allied countries declaring that it is Russia's firm intention not to make a separate peace under any circumstances whatsoever. The reports are called "absurd rumors."

PARIS, Nov. 17.—Lieutenant Gut Nemer, of the French air corps, shot down his first aeroplane in a sky battle over the Somme front on Thursday, the war office announced today. Fifty-four air combats took place along the front.

The communique says the night was calm on all parts of the front.

BERLIN, via Sayville, Nov. 17.—Jewish churchmen will play an important part in the new government of Poland according to details made public today. The administrative councils of county communities will be composed of 11 members, three of them rabbis, based upon the principles of proportional representation.

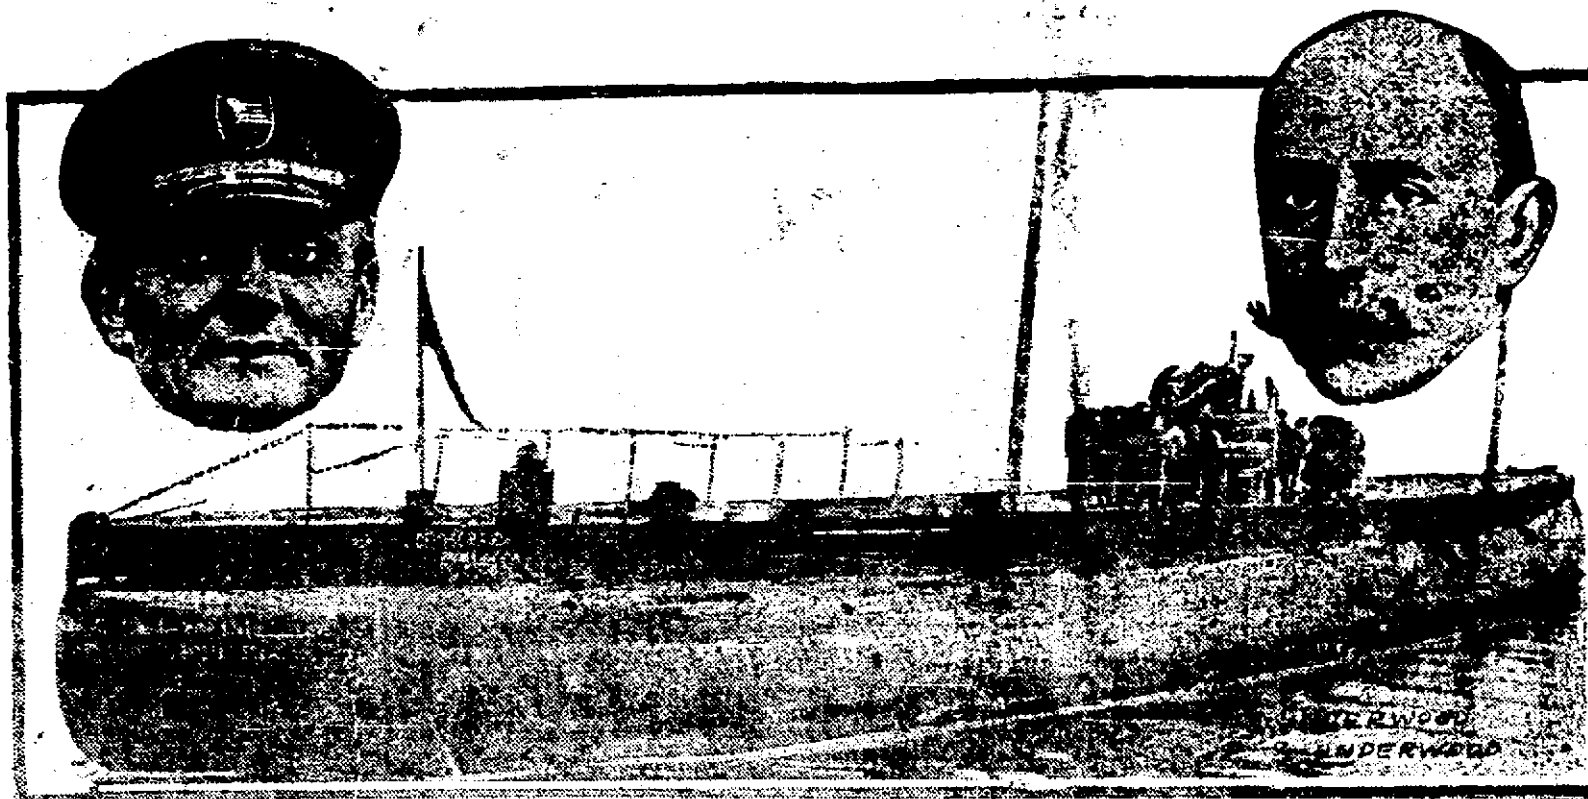

The Supreme Jewish Council will be composed of 21 members, of whom seven will be rabbis. Local communities will have their affairs administered by sub-boards chosen by the parishes.

START HIGH PRESSURE LINE.

WARREN, Nov. 17.—A high pressure line has been begun by the East Ohio Gas Co. from South and Palme streets east on Niles and Youngtown avenues. The line is planned to give increased service to the east end.

Deutschland Sinks Tug, 5 Lost

German Merchant Submarine in New London Harbor, Captain and Originator.

CAPT. PAUL KOENIG

ALFRED LONSDALE

MERCHANT SUBMARINE RETURNS TO HER DOCK AFTER THE CATASTROPHE

"Accident" Happens When Motor Boat Heads for German Craft in Harbor

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels today ordered an immediate investigation of the Deutschland-tug accident at New London to determine whether there was an attempt made to destroy the German submarine. The secretary expected Rear Admiral Grant, commander of the cruiser Columbia, stationed near New London, to make an immediate report.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Nov. 17.—The German merchant submarine, Deutschland, which left early today for Germany, rammed and sank one of her conveying tugs. The tug was crossing the submarine's bows to ward off a motor boat which was bearing down upon the Deutschland. The tug was the T. A. Scott, Jr. Five members of her crew, including Captain John Guernsey, were drowned.

The drowned are:
CAPTAIN JOHN GUERNEY. ENGINEER WILLIAM A. CATON.
FIREMAN EDWARD STONE. COOK CLARENCE B. DAVISON.
DECKHAND EUGENE DUZANT.

The Deutschland immediately put back to port but so far as is known she is not seriously damaged.

Officials are unable to say whether or not the occupants of the motor boat intended to harm the Deutschland, but all hands were taking the utmost precautions. Accordingly, when the motor boat suddenly appeared out of the light haze and began bearing close to the Deutschland, the T. A. Scott Jr., while racing at top speed swung directly in front of the submarine's bows to get between her and the small boat. The accident occurred at 2:30 o'clock, one hour after the Deutschland left the state pier, in a stretch of water known as the race. The race is about 12 miles from port.

The tug boat was struck amidships on the starboard side and sunk immediately. The nose of the submarine bit deep into the tug's side. Her stern was lifted into the air and her propellers, free of the water, hummed like giant electric fans. Captain Frederick Hirsch, of the Eastern Forwarding company, American agents of the owners of the Deutschland, had a narrow escape from death. He was standing on the deck of the T. A. Scott Jr., talking to Captain Paul Koenig of the submarine through a megaphone when the collision took place.

Captain Hirsch was thrown into the water and was nearly drowned before being rescued. The Deutschland carried a two million dollar cargo of crude rubber, nickel, zinc and silver bullion. The decision to depart was quickly and quietly made and few saw the submarine as she slipped from her berth and sped down the harbor with her decks awash in the moonlight. Tidal conditions were good and the tugs were hard put to keep up with the swift submarine as she was driven through the water by her powerful motors. As the little flotilla got away two strong searchlights on the mother ship Willehad swept the harbor searching every nook and cranny for suspicious looking craft. There was no representative of the German embassy present. The precautions that marked the second departure of the Deutschland from this country had been heightened by an incident which took place Wednesday, but which has just come to light. A man wearing the garb of a workman was detected as he was making his way on board with a bag of powder under his coat. The quantity of explosive was so small that it could not have done serious harm to the cargo and the man was regarded as a crank.

Just before the departure of the underwater boat considerable commotion was aroused by the United States cruiser Columbia anchoring off Eastern Point. Her searchlights were kept playing over the water all evening. It was remarked here that the Deutschland's accident was similar to that which delayed her second trip to this country. Shortly after leaving Bremen the submarine was in a collision and was compelled to put back to port for repairs. She was delayed a week.

United States Steamboat Inspectors William E. Wither and Harry N. Rankin, this morning began an investigation of the collision between the Deutschland and the tug Scott and their report will fix the responsibility for the accident. It is likely the departure of the Deutschland will be delayed some time by the investigation.

'J. HARRY,' ONCE LOCATED IN LIMA, NOW HELD AS EMBEZZLER AT COLUMBUS

Diamond, When Here, Had Many Friends, Who Are Much Surprised.

J. Harry Diamond, formerly in charge of the hair department of the Marinello Beauty shop, at West North street, was arrested last night in the Hartman hotel, at Columbus, on a charge of embezzlement. It is alleged that he was a member of the band of confidence men that operated in Chicago several years ago.

According to information from Miss Jennie Gray, 315 West North street, where he resided during his stay in Lima, he left for Detroit last May, where he opened a physiotherapist's office. He advertised on one of his business cards, "consultations strictly private."

To acquaintances here he boasted of the different professions that he followed during his travels over the country. He claimed to be a physician, a clairvoyant, a mind reader and a beauty doctor. He claims to have been born in India.

Acquaintances in this city on hearing of the arrest in Columbus were much surprised as during his residence here he formed a large number of friends, who always considered him to be of high character.

After the investigation of the operations of the gang of confidence men in Chicago of which he is alleged to have been a member, several Chicago officials and policemen were indicted and convicted on charges of conspiracy.

Following the confession of the officials and policemen the gang was broken up. During the raid on the quarters of the confidence men several of them were killed and wounded, but Diamond succeeded in making his escape.

Following his flight he came to Lima for three months and then to Mt. Vernon where he married a wealthy widow. It is said. When next traced he was found in Detroit, where he had opened consultation parlors. It is alleged that he needed a woman out of $1,000.

Detectives that had been following him on his flight over the country succeeded in tracing him to Columbus a few days ago, where his wife had been taken for an operation. Detective Sheellenberger arrested the fugitive last night when he came to that city to visit his wife at the hospital.

According to information obtained at Lima police headquarters, Diamond at one time requested that the local department get in touch with Police Chief Beall, in charge of the department at that time, who had been called to Chicago on business. The request was not complied with.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 17.—Dapper in his frock coat, light trousers and carrying a cane, Diamond told part of his story to Police Chief Carter this morning.

"I have been in Columbus five months," he said. "I have been living in East Broad street, but I'll not tell you where because I know that you police have a little habit of going through one's baggage and looking at what one has."

"I wanted to be near my wife. She is to be operated on for appendicitis soon and the Hartman was near the hospital, so I could go there every day to see her."

"I've only one wish and that is that you will not tell my wife of my arrest. No, I'll tell you no more. It's enough for me as it is."

Mrs. Diamond was operated on for appendicitis Wednesday morning and her condition is good, but nurses had not informed her of her husband's arrest up to noon today.

THANKSGIVING A Proclamation by the President

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—A Thanksgiving day proclamation, issued by President Wilson this afternoon charges the people of the United States with responsibility to contribute largely to the relief of Europe "out of our abundant means."

The proclamation said America should be doubly thankful because of "the blessings of peace and unbroken prosperity."

The proclamation follows:
"By the president of the United States of America:
"A PROCLAMATION.

"It has long been the custom of our people to turn in the fruitful autumn of the year in praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for His many blessings and mercies to us as a nation. The year that has elapsed since we last observed our day of thanksgiving has been rich in blessings to us as a people, but the whole face of the world has been darkened by war. In the midst of our peace and happiness, our thoughts dwell with painful disquiet upon the struggles and sufferings of real attitude toward the present.

HOW TO LIVE LONG.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—If you want to live longer than the palmists three score years and ten, this is how to do it, according to Chauncey M. Depew:

Get up early no matter what time you go to bed.

Cut out tobacco and alcohol if they disagree with you.

Have an eye for a pretty girl—and tell your wife all about her.

Keep your mind serene. Choleric persons die early.

Have a hobby like golf.

Be charitable, not in your will, but during your life.

struggle of the nations than by contributing out of their abundance to the relief of the suffering which war has brought in its train.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be fixed.

"Done at the City of Washington, this seventeenth day of November, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Sixteen and of the Independence of the United States the One Hundred and Forty-first.

"WOODROW WILSON,
The President,
"Robert Lansing, Secretary of State."

UNCOVER BOX CAR THEFTS.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 17.—Following the arrest of Tracie Evans, 21, Big Four railroad detectives say they uncovered systematic thefts of merchandise from box cars in the Ivydale yards. Police say the woman confessed hauling loot to Cincinnati. Three railroad employees are held on suspicion.

Brotherhood Chiefs Say Men Will Obey Courts In Eight Hour Case

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 17.—Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, today declared there may be no railroad strike even if the courts hold with the railroads in the suits filed to knock out the Adamson law. Stone, differing from W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, who said a strike would be called if the Adamson law did not become operative January 1, asserted the big four would look to President Wilson to "make good" if the litigation went against it.

W. B. Carter, head of the Brotherhood of Railway Firemen, and George H. Sines, vice president of the trainmen, agreed with Stone in his stand against Lee. Stone said it would not be determined until the brotherhood heads meet in Washington Monday whether or not the strike vote of last spring still holds good.

The difference of opinion between Stone and Lee was revealed when these questions were put up, point blank to them:

"Will you abide by the court order in the event of injunctions, or will you resort to other means?"

"Are interviews authentic in which you and other leaders have been quoted as saying you would not accept a court order in the pending injunction proceedings but would strike if the Adamson eight-hour law is put into effect January 1?"

Lee refused to answer the questions. Stone said the brotherhoods had no intention of refusing to obey any injunctions or court orders that might be issued against them.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The nation-wide fight over the eight-hour law centered in Washington today as labor and capital's leaders came joint congressional committee.

PENNSYLVANIA STARTING ON IMPROVEMENT

Work Progressing Rapidly on Railroad Division Shops.

PENNSY BUYS LAND

Adamson Law Makes Location of Shops Here Seem Worth While.

There is every indication that Lima will be made a permanent division point of the Pennsylvania lines. For weeks workmen have been engaged in making extensive yard improvements west of the city. The Pennsylvania company purchased 6 1/2 acres immediately west of Cole street on the south side of their right-of-way as well as a strip 66 feet wide off of the north end of the Baxter farm, which will enable them to make direct connections with the sidings at the "A Y" tower.

Scarcity of labor has retarded the work up to the present time. About sixty workmen are employed on the work at this time and the company has been unable to get more men.

The foundation is now in for a repair shop and it is expected that this building will be rushed to completion. The present plans provide for a repair shop, sidings to accommodate at least four hundred cars, a water station, coaling facilities and other equipment necessary at a division point.

Lima is the logical point for a division point, lying as it does practically mid-way between Ft. Wayne and Crestline. With the operation of the eight-hour law it will be necessary to have shorter divisions, in order to relieve the men at the eight-hour period. At the present time there are a number of crews that lay over in Lima and with the completion of the work now under way this number will be greatly increased. There is no doubt that the future will see this point grow in importance as a division point on the Pennsylvania lines.

Rumors have been afloat that the company expected to transfer the Ft. Wayne plant to this city, but this is not probable, however, it is evident that instead of making further extensions in Ft. Wayne, the Lima department will grow rapidly.

The development of local plant will undoubtedly mean the addition of many families to the population of the city.

NAMED ADMINISTRATOR.

A. L. Fry was today named as administrator of the estate of the late Eliza A. McCall of Shawnee township. The same is valued at $200 and a daughter and three sons will share. Mr. Fry gave bond in the sum of $800, with Gale Henne and William L. Pliker as sureties.

SUFFRAGE CONCLAVE CLOSES WITH GREAT HOPES FOR FUTURE

The Ohio Woman Suffrage association held its closing session last evening at Trinity M. E. church. Women who have long been attending the regular annual conventions say that the one held in this city during the past two days has been one of the most successful yet held. Suffrage workers decided that their efforts to gain favorable action of the legislature for their cause would be the year's work. Greater confidence marks the work of the leaders and predictions are such that it will be but a short time until the right is won. The proposal will be taken to Columbus shortly after the opening of the next legislative session. The association is striving for closer organization, better cooperation, and no partisanship.

After deciding to hold the next annual convention at Dayton, a resolution was passed for Mrs. Kent W. Hughes, newly elected corresponding secretary, to send a letter of congratulation to Miss Jeanette Rankin of Montana, who won a seat in congress this year. A standing vote of thanks was given to the Lima women for their hospitality.

Miss Florence Allen, prominent woman lawyer of Cleveland, gave a most interesting address last evening at the closing session. "The Real America" was the subject of her talk, in which she emphasized the importance of peace to the United States.

Miss Ella Haas was the last speaker on the program and gave one of the most instructive talks of the convention. Miss Haas is a woman of rare charm of mind and manner. She is able to make her talks convincing because she has the advantage of having the point of view of the working girl and the woman of the leisure class. Her talk was illustrated with stereoscopic slides.

ASSETS RUSSIA WILL SAVE RUMANIA.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Russia will save Rumania from the Teuton menace this autumn and winter, according to an interview with General Brusiloff, the great Russian leader, published in the Times. General Brusiloff told the correspondent that Russia will have the strongest army this winter it has ever had, and that all of the Russians felt that they owe it to their gallant little ally to save her from the fate of Serbia.

The Greatest Argument for Peace

BERLIN, Nov. 17.—(Via Sayville wireless).—General von Hindenberg is forcing the British to pay a toll of lives entirely disproportionate to their gains in fighting on the Somme front, military authorities declare.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The German gains were insignificant compared to the expenditure of men and ammunition which they expended.

MARY PICKFORD HAS TRYING TIME WITH AWFUL ALARM CLOCK

Every lover of moving pictures will sympathize with Mary Pickford in her latest sorrow. And especially strong will be this sympathy among those who cannot be awakened with anything less than a stick of dynamite unless the time be several hours after the sun has come up over the horizon to blaze the trail. Before going into detailed explanation it may also be said, as every film lover knows, that a motion picture production is made by elimination. Therein lies the connection between Mary Pickford's sorrow and an alarm clock.

A few months ago the famous star took a large company down to Southampton, Long Island, on "location" to film scenes for "Less Than the Dust". Southampton is a famous summer resort and making motion pictures there proved to be no success. The summer resorters were looking for just such a diversion as Mary Pickford's coming was sure to produce. There seemed to be no background that was not dotted with dozens of persons who are real personages in the society columns. Meanwhile Artcraft Pictures corporation was demanding speed so that "Less Than the Dust" could be released on schedule to the hundreds of exhibitors all over the United States and Canada who have arranged for bookings. Mary Pickford solved the problem by calling her company together and saying: "If we're going to finish this picture we've got to do something that few of us are accustomed to, and that is, appear on this location made up and ready to work at half past four every morning until we're done. None of this crowd will bother us unless they get into the scene before they go to bed."

If you haven't guessed the answer, be it known that in the cutting and assembling of "Less Than the Dust" all those early morning scenes were eliminated so that the production could be kept in the required time for presentation. And Mary Pickford has an alarm clock that she'll give to the first applicant.

TONIGHT THE LAST CHANCE TO TURN IN EXPENSE ACCOUNT

Expense accounts for candidates who appeared on the county tickets have until this evening to file their expense accounts, and the office of the board of elections is not going to remain open until midnight either. While there are but few who are still unreported, those who do not file their expenditure reports this evening will be liable to prosecution for violation of the corrupt practices act.

Several accounts were turned in late yesterday and this morning. Dr. Albert H. Herr spent $197.03 in his race for representative. B. E. Tabler spent $112.35 for the recording. The socialists, according to a report filed by Ed Blank, spent $50.50 in spreading his municipal ownership propaganda. The Young Men's Wilson-Cox club received $86 in donations and spent $49, according to the report of the treasurer, E. R. Curtin, Jr. The balance of $87 will be held for further disposition as ordered by the club.

Complete official returns from the Third judicial district, Fourth congressional district and Thirty-second senatorial district will not be available before Monday. There are sixteen counties in the judicial, seven in the senatorial and six in the congressional district. HAWISHER BUYS HOVER PROPERTY

New Owner Contemplates Construction of Big Garage.

An important real estate deal was consummated this morning, when John Hawisher purchased the plot of ground on which stands the ruins of the stand-in barn on Water street, which was burned to the ground early in the fall. A. C. and C. A. Hover were the former owners of the property. The consideration was given at $15,000. According to the new owner of the property a brick garage and a stand-in barn will be erected on the site as soon as the debris is removed. The structure will be two stories high and will be arranged for living purposes on the second floor.

MISS HAAS IS TO LECTURE TONIGHT AT OLIVET CHURCH

Miss Ella Haas, prominent suffrage worker of Dayton, will lecture this evening at Olivet Presbyterian church. Her address will begin promptly at 7 o'clock and end at 8 o'clock. It will be illustrated with stereoscopic slides.

Miss Haas has had unusual experience among the working girls, having, figuratively speaking, answered the call of the factory whistle for 33 years. She is now an ardent suffrage worker, doing all she can for that cause. She is also an indefatigable worker for the better of economic conditions, especially for women. She has the advantage of most social workers in that she has not only the view point of the working girl, but also that of the woman of comparative luxury.

Miss Haas is as charming to the eye as she is to the ear, and one of her personality never fails to hold her audience through her address.

GOOD JOB FOR MORRIS.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 17.—Democrats close to Governor-elect Cox today said Charles E. Morris, director of publicity for democratic state headquarters, will serve the new executive as private secretary. The salary is $5,000 a year. Morris formerly worked on Cox's Dayton and Springfield papers.

WOMEN OF THE ANDES.

It is a far cry from the western slope of the Andes to the dawn of women's rights, emancipation and the vote, but the morning star of duty as wife and mother, even in their limited conception of its meaning, shines all the brighter in comparison. In their own wide ramified family circles their influence is felt, while their outside interest centers in the church.

The wealthy senora is looked up to by her poorer sisters, and in the small towns and haciendas (ranches) where her numerous family connections are the leading people of the community, she extends a kindly and charitable beneficence to them and to all who serve them in any capacity. When these women come of old Spanish stock they are extremely exclusive, and ancient rules of etiquette guide their social relationships. Their daughters go to the convent schools, receive a limited education, and return home to continue the same regime as has held sway since the day when their forebears left Spain.

In family life there is much affectionate generosity and contentment; life for them is simpler and less expensive than in Anglo-Saxon countries. There is a lack of realization of the seriousness and meagerness of life, an habitual inclination to take things lightly. With no struggle to better their lot in life or fight against untoward circumstances, they calmly resign themselves to the fate of the unseen hand.—The Christian Herald.

CAN OR COOK YOUR MEATS AS SOON AS POSSIBLE.

In the November issue of Farm and Fireside, a writer says:

"Now, as such a difference of opinion is entertained regarding how long meats should be kept before being cooked or canned, I will say that I have canned pork, cooked on ice in summer, the same day it was butchered, up to five days old in winter. I have canned beef that had been butchered all the way from two days to two weeks. But I do not like to handle meats that have been butchered so long, on account of the scum which rises in the kettles or pans while we are preparing the meats for the jars. Of course I am always careful to remove any such scum, but this trouble is eliminated by handling meats that have been butchered a shorter time."

GIRL "SLAVER" SENTENCED.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 17.—Margaret Marvin, otherwise known as Beesie Clark, 15 years old, of Raleigh, N. C., was sentenced to two years in the Maryland penitentiary for violating the white slave law. It was testified she took Antoinette M. Fleischman, 15, of Norfolk, Va., and got her to lead an immoral life.

CHARLES CARR IS DELIVERED TO STATE PRISON BY SHERIFF

Prison doors closed behind Charles Carr, Allen county prisoner, today at noon, when Sheriff Sherman E. Eley delivered to Warden Thomas this prisoner. Carr has served one term in the reformatory at Mansfield, and was under paroled sentence from that institution.

Carr was indicted for grand larceny. He was convicted of stealing a motorcycle belonging to Lee Haller, on the day after Decoration last spring.

Judge Klinger gave him a suspended sentence to the penitentiary. When prison officials learned that he had violated his parole from Mansfield, they refused to grant a suspended sentence to the institution and ordered commitment.

TWO-MILE PIKE OPEN TO TRAFFIC

Two of the three miles of the Lima-Spencerville pike that was contracted for has been completed. Commissioners have opened the west end of the road for traffic. However, it is hardly likely that the remainder of the pike will be completed before next spring.

In the two-mile of completed pike, 3,000 yards of grading has been done; five concrete bridges put in; 6,000 yards of stone and gravel has been used and the entire surface given a coating of 35,850 gallons of bituminous binder. The cost of the two miles is in the neighborhood of $20,000.

TAMING THE MINK.

The United States department of agriculture is making experiments in domesticating the mink. Well, here's luck to its efforts—but heaven help the poultryman who tries to rear his chickens near that experimental farm. The mink has fur as fine as the most exacting lady could desire, but his disposition is as bad as that of a Villista bandit, and he has at least as much cunning. He can dig his way into any inclosure not made of brick, stone or concrete. He loves blood as well as a weasel. He has a perfect genius for evading traps, and he can conduct his depredations so skillfully that for months and years they will be laid to other marauders, and only the closest observers will know that there is a mink in the neighborhood. The man—or the department—which undertakes to tame such a creature has a large self-confidence.—Chicago Journal.

STEPHEN WILSON'S FUNERAL.

Funeral services for Stephen Wilson of 1408 West Elm street, who died yesterday morning will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the United Brethren church in Allentown. Dr. M. B. Fuller of Trinity Methodist church, will officiate at the funeral. Interment will be in Allentown. He was long in the service of the Lake Erie & Western railroad as time-keeper.

INJURED IN HOTEL FIRE.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Nov. 17.—One man was seriously burned and 70 others narrowly escaped injuries when fire gutted the interior of the Aughtinbaugh hotel in Wellsville, 4 miles west of here, early today. Some guests in the building fled in their night clothes, some jumping from second story windows. The loss is $1,000.

VENERABLE SHAKERESS DIES.

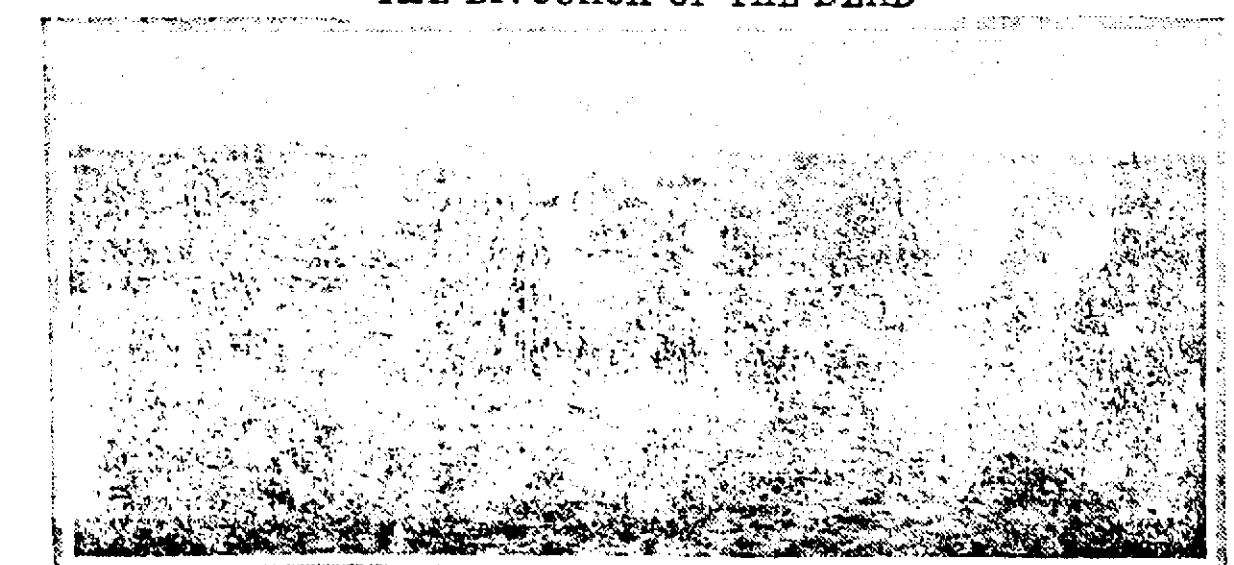

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 17.—Sarah Pennebaker, 79, died today of paralysis at Shakerstown. Her death leaves only three survivors of a once prosperous community.

The Shaker property is stated to be worth over a million dollars, and recently efforts were made to have the property, which includes the village of Shakerstown, reverted to the state, as it was claimed that the three survivors were too aged and infirm to manage it.

Organized Owners Make
More Off Timber, Ohio
Bulletin Reports.

Agricultural Station Terms
Marketing as Important as Producing.

WOOSTER, Nov. 17.—Co-operative associations of wood lot owners cause no other means of disposal holding sufficient timber land to make a working forest are in a position to demand higher market prices than they can expect as individuals, says bulletin No. 302 of the Ohio experiment station here. The services of a reliable, experienced timber man can also be secured to aid in selling the product.

Marketing wood lot products has become a problem of importance because forests are now in small areas and timber is commanding an unusually high price. Owners now realize that marketing the timber is just as important as its production. Generally the owner is not in a position to harvest and market his timber himself. He does not have the expensive machinery required, efficient methods of operation and knowledge of markets. He usually loses heavily by selling to a local buyer.

Often he must cut up choice kinds of wood into inferior products or sell at a low price. The small sawmills today cannot turn out a uniform, standardized product. Sawing may be done in such a way as to make the grading and sorting for market impossible.

The facts have brought to the minds of wood lot owners the question of selling through organization. Several farmers could make up car loads for market and then sell at greatly increased profits over sales they would make when working alone. Markets could be investigated to find where the highest prices are obtainable.

Moreover, such an association could increase profits by securing a trained forester. This man could outline plans for wood lot management and act as adviser in lumbering and marketing. In the woods he could estimate the market value of the standing timber, so that the owner would know how to sell most profitably. He could obtain higher

CLASS FOR MADDOO'S JOB IS WALL STREET REPORT

CARTER GLASS.
CLINING ST.

NEW YORK.—Carter Glass, congressman from the Sixth Virginia district, may be the next secretary of the treasury, according to a report current in Wall Street today and said to be from authoritative sources. Henry Morgenthau, former ambassador to Turkey, is another also rumored as possible successor to William G. McAdoo, whom, it is said, will retire in order to conduct his business affairs.

Congressman Glass fathered the federal reserve bill in the house, and at that time displayed an extensive and expert knowledge of finance. He is also a personal friend of the president. According to reports here it is firmly believed in Lynchburg, Va., Congressman Glass' home, that his appointment is certain, although the official announcement is not expected until after the first of the year.

prices because of his experience and knowledge of markets.

This subject of selling lumber is discussed in bulletin No. 302, just issued by the Ohio experiment station. The author shows how farmers may estimate the value of their standing timber and what the principal uses of the important woods are.

By selling their timber in local markets, wood lot owners often realize much greater profit than they can get from dealers and at the same time they make good wages for themselves and teams during the winter. In one instance a farmer made nearly twice as much by lumbering himself.

This owner was offered $4 a 1,000 feet for his standing timber. He sold the lumber lately in a nearby city, cutting and hauling it himself and made $7 a 1,000 feet, or $1,200 more than a dealer offered him. In another case, the owner realized $10 a 1,000 feet by his own lumbering.

Sloan Lintment for Neuralgia Aches

The dull throbs or neuralgia is quickly relieved by Sloan's Lintment, the universal remedy for pain. Easy to apply; it quickly penetrates without rubbing and soothes the sore muscles. Cleaner and more promptly effective than messy plasters or ointments, does not stain the skin or clog the pores. For stiff muscles, chronic rheumatism, gout, lumbago, sprains and strains it gives quick relief. Sloan's Lintment reduces the pain and inflammation in insect bites, bruises, bumps and other minor injuries to children. Get a bottle today at your Druggist, 26c.

ONE OF SCHWAB'S BEST JOKES.

Charles M. Schwab has an unlimited fund of humor and he delights in telling stories to his friends. In an article which he has written for the December issue of The American Magazine he says:

"While my mind is running back over those first days of the coal business, I think of William Bornstrager, who did much for rolling mill development. While on a vacation William fell in love with a handsome, rather stout, German girl. When he came back he told Mr. Carnegie that he wanted another vacation, so that he could get married.

"Mr. Carnegie was delighted. 'Tell me about the fortunate lady,' he asked, 'is she tall and slender and willowy?'

"'Well, no, Mr. Carnegie,' replied Bornstrager. 'Indeed, if I had had the rolling of her, I think I would have given her a few more passes.'

WEATHER — Partly overcast tonight and Saturday; probably snow flurries near Lake Erie.

FULL SAIL AT NIGHT

"O NE night when we were in the tropics, I went out to the end of the flying jibboom upon some duty; and, having finished it, turned round and lay over the boom for a long time, ruminating the beauty of the night before me. Being so far out from the deck I could look at the ship as if from another vessel; and there rose up from the water, supported only by the smart black hull, a pyramid of canvas spreading far out beyond the hull and towering up almost, as it seemed in the indistinct night, into the clouds. The sea was as still as an inland lake; the light trade wind was gently and steadily breathing from astern; the dark-blue sky was studded with tropical stars; there was no sound but the rippling of the water under the stem; and the sails were spread out wide and high—the two lower studding sails stretching on either side far beyond the deck; the topmast studding-sails like wings to the topsails; the top-gallant studding-sails spreading fearlessly out above them; still higher, the two royal studding-sails looking like two kites flying from the same string; and highest of all the little sky-sail, the apex of the pyramid, seeming actually to touch the stars and to be out of reach of human hand. So quiet, too, was the sea, and so steady the breeze, that if these sails had been sculptured marble, they could not have been more motionless—not a ripple on the surface of the canvas; not even a quivering of the extreme edges of the sail, so perfectly were they distended by the breeze. I was so lost in the sight that I forgot the presence of the man who came out with me until he said for he too, rough old man-of-war's man that he was, had been gazing at the show; half to himself, still looking at the marble sails: 'How quietly they do their work.'—From 'Two Years Before the Mast,' N. H. Dana.

ON BIRDS.

"They very birds of the air . . . are both so many and so pleasant and so useful to mankind, that I must not let them pass without some observations," wrote Isaac Walton in "The Compleat Angler." "They refresh him with their heavenly voices . . . those little humble musicians of the air that warble forth their curious ditties with what nature hath furnished them to the shame of art."

"At first the lark, when she means to rejoice to cheer herself and those that hear her; she then quits the earth and rises as she ascends higher into the air. Now do the black-bird and thrasher with their melodious voices bid welcome to the cheerful spring and in their fixed months warble forth such ditties as no art or instrument can reach to. Nay, the smaller birds also do the like in their particular seasons, as namely the lark, the titlark, the little linnet and the honest robin, that loves mankind."

"But the nightingale, another of my airy creatures, creates such sweet loud music out of her little instrumental throat, that it might make mankind to think miracles are not ceased. He that at midnight, when the very laborer sleeps securely, should hear, as I have very often, the doubling and redoubling of her voice, might well be lifted above earth."

When a king asked David whether he could not explain his art to him in a more commendable manner, he was answered that there was no royal way to poetry. Other things may be solved by might, or purchased with money, but knowledge is to be gained only by study, and study to be profitable only in retirement. — Samuel Johnson.

The LEISER Co.

Doily Fashion Hint

By La Raconteuse.

Soutache braid as trimming on the semi-tailored hat proves very attractive. It is usually introduced in the form of an ornament or stitched on a ribbon or a fabric in band effect. In the illustration, a broad brimmed sailor of navy velvet has a crown of tan felt. Soutache braid is cleverly introduced in tan felt; being arranged to form a buckle and decorate the crown in an attractive manner.

FAVORS OF FASHION.

One of the new ideas for the coming winter is novel, pretty, and exceedingly practical. It provides that a celluloid bangle, set with rhinestones, can be used as a muff-keeper.

The bangle is attached to the muff by means of a double satin ribbon of narrow width which exactly matches the muff; the celluloid of the bangle can usually be had to match the muff also. This ribbon is about a quarter of a yard long and is sewed at one end to the lining of the muff and velours, and does not mat or spot at the other end is snotted over the bangle. The bangle then is secure on the arm and the muff can dangle merrily in this way and the hands will be free when one wishes.

Muffs this season will be carried in the evening and should match the wrap or its trimmings. This is a sensible fashion, for it is an innovation in comfort and one that it is hoped will be maintained for every winter season.

Preferred among new muff shapes is the one perfectly round in form, called the capstan muff. This is mostly chosen in medium size, but larger, shaped, half round, and fancy far muffs will also be seen. Many are likely to be devised of some fabric and merely a band or so of fur, or imitation fur which is now so well made that it answers nicely for many occasions. The woman who is skillful at contriving her accessories from a little piece of the material of her suit, or its trimming, will find she can make her own muff, as well as girdle and handbag, to match each other as the mode requires they should do.

Last season's street suit is being gotten out and furnished up for early fall wear, and the girl who is up to date will probably want to give her tweed or serge coat a thick square collar of some deep-pelt fur fabric. The heavy gray plushes are pretty for this, or any of the other simulated furs. The narrow cloth collar looks a little meager and old-fashioned this year, but the larger collar can easily be sewn on over the small one, the old lapels being left in place in front. The coat will be quite transformed.

There is a greater tendency than usual this year towards the careful matching of costumes and their accessories. Not only should the hat match the suit or coat, but the shoes and stockings should blend in tone and the gloves should match as nearly as possible. Vests, too, must match or harmonize in tone.

An effective and inexpensive material for evening coats is furniture velours. This is very wide, considerably lower in price than dress

LABOR FEDERATION PREPARES FOR BIG EIGHT HOUR FIGHT

Will Wage Battle for Shorter Day for All Workers of United States.

Will Hear the Railway
Brotherhood Chiefs Next Monday.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 17.—Labor is entrenching itself here for one of the greatest fights of its career—an eight-hour working day for all toilers.

The crisis, which leaders freely admit is impending, may come during the present convention of the American Federation of Labor, but in all likelihood it will be deferred until January 1, when labor's first great victory, the railroad eight-hour day, will be put to test through the operation of the Adamson law.
The ground-work for the battle
however, is being laid here.

The convention proper is marking time. It probably will continue to do so until the first of the week, when the "big four" of the railroad labor world—Stone of the Engineers, Garretson of the Conductors, Carter of the Firemen, and Lee of the Trainmen—will come here to address the hundreds of delegates. It is expected they will ask the onderment of the Federation in the measures they will take to prevent the railroads from having the Adamson bill declared unconstitutional.

They will receive this endorsement. Labor feels, according to leaders here, that "now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party," and it seems assured that the brotherhood chiefs will get backed to the limit. They are confident of winning. They believe that the support of the administration to their fight, and they "point with pride" to the result of the election as proof positive that they have
"the endorsement of society."

As to whether the railroad men will strike in the event the railroads succeed in holding up the Adamson law past January 1, leaders here profess to have no knowledge.

President Gompers turned it off
this way:

"The Adamson law will go into effect on January 1, regardless of injunctions, contests, or what the railroads do." He declined to amplify the statement.

Regarding the possibility of a nation-wide sympathetic strike in case the railroad men do go out, everybody, high and low, fought shy. They left it alone as though it were hot.

The possibility of a universal 8-hour day is engrossing practically the entire attention of the delegates.
Their leaders are scanning reports from New York and other large cities for tidings of the employers' moves.
They frankly regard the formation of the National Industrial Conference board as a preparedness move on the part of the employers.

The conference board will come in for some acrid comment at the hands of President Gompers of present plans do not go awry. He steadfastly declined today to make a statement concerning it, saying he "would give them his answer before this convention closes."

MAJESTIC THEATER

Unusual significance is attached to "The Devil's Needle," the new Norma Talmadge-Tally Marshall picture, for among other reasons, it is the first work as a director of Chester Whitely, who heretofore has been an actor for the screen. Whitely is a native of Michigan. He still is a comparatively young man, although his experience has been extensive.
Before assuming the responsibilities of a producer he adapted Cervantes' Don Quixote as the first screen offering of DeWolf Hopper for Triangle. He also provided this star with "Sunshine Dad" and "Mr.
Goode, the Samaritan." In both of these last named plays Whitely himself played leading parts.

AT THE ROYAL

Charlie Chaplin, the million dollar comedian, will again create amusement galore at the Royal tomorrow when he appears in the new reel Essanay revue entitled "Night Owls," and which is one of the best of its kind. His work in this is that of a rounder who gets into all kinds of amusing situations because he is an inept. Whatever that is! So people will have all the thrills they desire. The third story of "The Yellow Menace" will be shown and is aptly named "The Poisoned Tarantula." Each story is complete in itself and treats of the dangers which threaten us on the Pacific coast at the hands of the Mongolian race. In the east we do not appreciate this danger as much as in the west. This thriller makes us realize it more fully.

DREAMLAND

At Dreamland tomorrow still be opened another of the single reel dramatic thrillers for which the Kalem company is so famous. This is entitled "Grant Police Reporter," and shows Dare-Devil George Larkin as the reporter in this famous picture. In the first story he climbs hand over hand from one 12-story building to another on a telephone wire to rescue Olive Kirby from a burning building. In mid-air the wire snaps and Grant is catapulted through space into a seething mass of flames. He is saved, of course.
But how! The pictures reveal that.
Besides this will be screened the two reelers "The Pacifist" and "Reel Life."

AT THE STRAND

Because of the innovation of "Grant Police Reporter," at the Dreamland tomorrow, Hazardous Helen Holmes will appear at the

HAWAIIAN MUSIC IS FEATURE FOR ORPHEUM WEEK END

The sketch, "The Night-Hawks", is the headliner at the Orpheum this week, and as it is billed, it is an echo from the other side of life.
The scene is enacted in a wine-room and the principal characters are a thief, a detective and a girl. It is the usual story of a thief reforming for a girl, only to be dragged down by an honest man looking for a reward. It is acted in an unusual way and is full of interest.

Major Keelaskat and Co., featuring Princeess Luawai delighted the audience with that most popular music at the present time, Hawaiian. They play their instruments in a way peculiar to them and were recalled again and again. Warren and Connelly in the "Song Shop" have a musical act on a beach and their singing was excellent. The man is a capable piano player.

Pankey and McCarver, "The Devil and the White-Wash Man", have a medley of songs that take well and the black face man is the comedian.

Ed Estus opens the bill with a novelty act and his scenery is worthy of note. It represents the outside of a clothing store with the usual number of clothing dummies and he im-personates one of these. He does some very clever balancing and his act is unusual for an opener.

MISSISSIPPI RIVER WILL BE EMPLOYED AFTER A LONG REST

'Father of Waters' to Serve the Cities and States of West.

Muddy Tide is to Bear Traffic of Wide Middle Domain.

By Frederic J. Haskin.
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 17.—"The Mississippi River—the central artery of the river system which drains the greater part of the United States of America"—such is the dictionary definition of the Mississippi. But as one man here puts it, the definition is not complete unless you add "At present loading on the job."

The Mississippi has been enjoying a vacation for some decades. Now all the river towns, from St. Paul to New Orleans, are out to put the mighty stream back to work again, along with all its major tributaries, and incidentally to reap a few benefits in the way of business and shipping by the process. They have formed a league for the purpose and they are attacking the problem in a way that looks as though they meant business. Their engineers have already submitted the first set of plans and reports.

The story of the Mississippi system has been one of tremendous ups and downs. Taking the real Mississippi, which is the Mississippi-Missouri, it is the longest river in the world. Its big tributaries, such as the upper Mississippi and the Ohio, seem to have been laid out on the plan of a trunk-line of communication. Along with the parent stream they include more than 10,000 miles of navigable waterway. They drain a million and a quarter square miles of the richest and busiest country in the world. Once they were the supreme routes of travel in all the central United States, and some of the most colorful and picturesque dramas of American life and history were played out along their traffic-laden waters. Then came the civil war, and the building of railroads in the succeeding decades, and the rivers were practically run out of business. They continued to flow, but freights deserted them.

The present campaign has for its object the rehabilitation of the river system as an artery of traffic. Of course, the mighty streams can never rise to the relative importance that they held before the day of railroad development, but the population and production of the territory they drain has increased so enormously in the same years that they ought to be busier than they ever were in the days when they formed almost the sole means of transport. They can never hold anything like so large a share of the traffic as they once did, but they should carry more traffic now than ever. In Europe, for example, where railroad development has gone practically to the limit, streams like the Rhine are nevertheless crowded with shipping.

These things being the case, why is the Mississippi idle or nearly so?

MRS. ROBERT REID, WIFE OF THE NOTED PAINTER, GETS DIVORCE.

MRS. ROBERT REID.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Mrs. Elizabeth Reeves Reid, wife of Robert Reid, well known portrait artist, National Academician and member of the "Ten American Painters," is divorced from her husband today as a result of a decree signed by Justice Tompkins at Nyack. Although the couple have been separated for more than a year their marital difficulties were known to only a few of their friends.

The romance of the Reids had its inception in Mr. Reid's studio, where the future Mrs. Reid posed for his notable painting

"The Portrait Sketch." She was also the inspiration for many of his later canvases. They were married in 1907. Mr. Reid was a friend of Stanford White, and was one of the few men who attended Stanford White's famous "Pie Dinner" in 1895. Several years later Mr. Reid gave a dinner in his own studio. During the height of the festivities two detectives entered the studio via the skylight, but after looking things over concluded that the affair did not require further attention from the police.

The river and its tributaries are not entirely unproductive. Several modern boat-lines do a brisk business in passengers and freights out of St. Louis; New Orleans has a good river trade, and streams like the Ohio and the Tennessee have their boat lines. None the less, the engineers and economists are agreed that the rivers should do a great deal more than they are doing. Their comparative idleness dates back to the days of the civil war, when the coincident paralysis of river traffic and the new vigor in railroad building threw the currents of commerce east and west instead of north and south, along the new trunk lines toward New York instead of down the streams toward New Orleans. The Mississippi itself helped the change by developing some obnoxious sand-bars near the mouth that blocked navigation for a time. The war ended, the channel was re-opened, but business continued to flow along the new lines. Partly this was inevitable, because with railroad development New York became the natural port for a great section of the country. Still, the river cities feel that they never got back even their fair share of traffic; and especially that they have not gotten what the ordinary laws of trade movement should bring them as the country grows. The rivers at their gates are assets bringing insufficient returns.

After a study of the problem they have decided that the main thing needed is a system of modern river terminals; an adequate terminal at every river town, large or small. The Mississippi Terminal League has been formed to see about terminals. The plan is to have the terminal structure, each city and town building and maintaining its own. The Terminal League is an organization whose units are the various chambers of commerce and business men's leagues in the river cities. The league's engineers have already drawn up elaborate plans for different types of terminals suitable of every size of town from great cities like St. Louis and New Orleans to little river landings where a hundred people live.

The question of freight handling is coming in for a great deal of study, for it is only by cheap and expeditious handling of freight that the river can compete with the railroads. Water shipments are cheaper than rail shipments, unless the expense of transferring the freight

U. S. COMMERCE CHAMBER DISCUSSES RAILROADS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Regulation of railroads and prevention of railroad strikes were questions subjected to critical analysis by some of the country's biggest commercial figures today, at a special meeting of the national council of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The lessons growing out of the railroad situation as it confronts the country today were discussed from all angles. The railroad question was debated to the exclusion of practically all other topics, inasmuch as the joint congressional committee, of which Senator Newlands is chairman and Representative Adamson is vice-chairman, begins its hearings at the capitol November 20.

Prominent speakers debated such phases of the subject as the Canadian Disputes act; necessity for a public investigation without award for purpose of permitting public sentiment to be formed upon facts publicly brought out before a strike can take place; and the fixing of a minimum wage by the interstate commerce commission or some other commission, permitting labor to appeal to this commission just as a shipper can appeal in the case of rates and permitting him to cease work within 30 days after the decision of the commission, but making conspiracy to injure the public service a crime.

Upon the question of railroad regulation there was considered the problem of getting rid of 49 different jurisdictions. Recent decisions of the courts, many speakers argued, tends to make decision of the interstate commerce commission paramount and controlling, but there is still a great deal of confusion.

The National Chamber officials, it was declared are of the opinion now that no question is more prominently before the public or calls more loudly for sane and business-like solution than that affecting the railroads.

The National council, composed of one representative from each of the 800 organization members of the national chamber, will continue its sessions tomorrow for the purpose of outlining plans for the forthcoming annual meeting considering the appointment of a nominating committee and discussing the question of closer co-operation with a view of securing better results in voting on referendum.

from cars to boats is big enough to eat up the difference. The old-time method of loading and unloading river cargo-boats with a gang of singing negro roustabouts and a swearing first mate was undeniably picturesque and equally ineffective. Machinery is playing a bigger part, and the essential feature of the new terminal plans is the complete replacing of human labor by machines. Steam cranes and elevator systems will do all the work in every city of any size if the plans of the league are carried out.

Nowadays the river traffic is beginning to show a few signs of coming back on its own account, even without municipal stimulation. The old boat-lines here, some of them with historic names running back over half a century, report increased business, and one big new line has just been started, a feature of which is the steel barge idea.

Much is hoped for from these steel barges. They may prove the prize cargo-carriers of the future river-trade. Towed by some vessel with a steam power-plant, they bear tremendous loads. Those now in operation carry 5,000 tons—a load equivalent to that of three heavy trains. The new company intends eventually to operate such barges on a bi-weekly schedule between St. Louis and New Orleans, when they will evidently play an appreciable part in national freight traffic.

The steel barge has helped to overcome one of the main difficulties of river freight business under the old conditions by making the insurance hazard smaller. The steel hull has little or nothing to fear from snags or bars. In the matter of insurance, things have been improved generally in the river business, and a good deal of growth is traceable to this one cause. Under the old regime, the shipper had to insure his own goods while they were on the water, while on land his worries end as soon as the railroad company puts a seal on the freight-car. Because the shipper did his own insuring, the boat companies were unable to quote a net freight rate including insurance. Now the boat-lines insure freight just as the railroad companies do, and they have educated the insurance companies into thinking better of a river risk than they once did.

There is little doubt that river traffic will increase in importance in the next few years, both absolutely and relative to the total business of the nation. The rivers are hardly doing their share of transport labor. An increase is probably due to arrive on its own account; but if the river cities succeed in pulling together and putting through their elaborate and comprehensive schemes for municipal docks and terminals at all the river points the movement will be immensely stimulated. The Panama canal is also sure to have considerable influence, opening as it does a new route to western South America and the Orient. The routing of a shipment from Chicago to Chile, for instance, is obviously changed by the canal. Such a change and all the others like it will go toward putting the idle rivers of the central states to work.

DEPRAVED YOUTH IS POSSIBLE SLAYER OF GIRL AT PONTIAC

An Eccentric Relative is Also Under Suspicion of Crime.

PONTIAC, Ill., Nov. 17.—The Grave of Christine Diemer will be opened today or tomorrow in an effort to solve the mystery of her death.

Jacob Diemer, the patriarchal father of the dead woman, has given his permission and today a Chicago specialist is hurrying to Pontiac to examine the body and determine, if he can, whether she was the victim of a murder of whether the broken neck and fractured skull were received by striking her head against a tree or the support of a bridge as she plunged into the Vermillion river to end her life.

While Diemer, his wife and daughter Magdalena, who are held under bond of $10,000 each on charges of manslaughter, still cling to the suicide theory, officials are investigating the movements of two persons in pursuit of the murder theory. One of the suspects is a depraved youth who, fleeing from the Pontiac reformatory, is known to have been in the vicinity when Miss Diemer met her death. The other is an eccentric relative of the Diemer family who, only a few weeks ago, had an argument with Christine Diemer over money matters and left in a towering rage.

The tailored suit, which the girl's disordered mind looked upon as clothing bearing an evil charm, still was being sought today as the possible clue to the solution of her death. It disappeared on the night she left home and has not been accounted for. It is pointed out that the fleeing reformatory prisoner, desperate as he heard the guards closing in on him may have killed Miss Diemer, taken from her the suit and walked past the guards garbed as a woman.

This Toledo Mother Treats Her Children's Colds "Externally"

Mrs. Chas. Cook Finds the "Outside" Application, Vap-O-Rub Better Than Internal Dosing.

Mothers who are faced with the problem of treating children's colds without disturbing their digestion will be interested in the experience of Mrs. Chas. Cook, 134 Bay Street, Toledo, Ohio, who writes: "I consider Vick's Vap-O-Rub the best medicine I have ever found for winter use, especially for children. It will not blister or burn, so the children don't dislike it, and it is better than internal medicine in many ways. When I first tried Vick's my little girl had had an awful cold and cough for some time. I used part of a jar on her and it gave great relief. During the winter I used two more large jars on my three children and also on the grown folks of our family, and found it fine for colds in the throat, head and lungs. In cases of hoarseness or croup I would just rub a little Vick's over throat and chest, and cover with a warm flannel cloth, and also have them swallow a little piece, the size of a bean, rolled in sugar." U.S. WILL PRESS SUIT ATTACKING EIGHT-HOUR LAW

Justice Department Seeks a Supreme Court Decision
by January 1.

High Officials Believe That Roads Will be Forced to Obey Mandate.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The department of justice intends to press for early decision in the supreme court of the United States one of the railroad suits attacking the constitutionality of the Adamson eight-hour law.

An appeal will likely be made in the first case decided, in the hope that the supreme court may be able to pass judgment as near as possible to Jan. 1, when the law becomes effective, if not suspended by injunction.

Belief was expressed by high officials today that the efforts to enjoin the operation of the law would fail. It is the view of some of the president's advisers in the present situation that the courts would compel the railroads to abide by the provisions of the act, in view of the fact that if the railroads tie up the enforcement of the act, a general strike would no doubt follow.

This belief is strengthened by the fact that the Adamson law is primarily a measure designed to obtain full and scientific investigation of facts upon which to base legislation. It is to be effective only six months during the time of the investigation of the application of the eight-hour day.

Grants Thirty-Day Extension.

It can be extended only 30 days at the request of the special commission appointed under it. By reason of the very nature of the act, administration officials are convinced efforts to enjoin its operation will fail. On the other hand it is thought it may be possible to enjoin "interference" by the railroads with interstate traffic as labor leaders were enjoined in the famous Pullman strike 20 years ago.

Suits attacking the constitutionality of the Adamson law have been filed by 13 railroads. Several others have given notice that they will take similar action.

So far as the department is informed, the first suits set for hearing are those of the Santa Fe and the Union Pacific railroads at Kansas City, Nov. 23. Unless some reason develops for a request for postponement of these cases they will be the first heard and any effort to expedite a supreme court hearing would be based upon the lower court decisions in them.

The joint congressional committee appointed to investigate railroad questions, announced today that its first hearing day, Monday, will be given over to the state railway commissioners. The commissioners have been in session here several days and sentiment has been strong in favor of appearing before the joint committee to fight action by congress.

WILL FACE CHARGES "WITH BELLS ON" SAYS "INTERNATIONAL SPY"

DR. ARNEKAR KARL GRAVES
Arrested by White Star.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—"I will face the charges with bells on. This is merely an effort of that clique to hide their own skirts. They have dragged in the name of a woman from obvious motives to accomplish their own ends and to bid for the sympathy of the American public, which is always sympathetic when a woman is concerned."

This is the statement of Dr. Arnekar Karl Graves, self-styled "international spy" arrested in Washington for an alleged attempt to blackmail Countess von Bernstorff, wife of the German ambassador. Graves was arrested when he called upon the counsellor of the German embassy with one of three letters he declared he received from secret agents who smuggled them past the British censors. Graves lives in New York and came here after being bailed out.

STORY OF A RABBIT'S FOOT.

"Some years ago," writes an old-time Erie railroad man, "I was riding in the diner of a Baltimore-Southwestern train near St. Louis, when a brake-shoe came off. The car for a fraction of a minute stood almost on end. We were traveling at a forty-mile pace. A bridal couple had just been served with soup. It landed in their laps. I had finished eating and had reached the passageway near the kitchen when the car came back on the rails, and we stopped. The cook emerged with the brake-shoe in his hand. It had come up through the floor after a wheel hit it, tearing out a big hole in front of the cook's range. This is just what the cook said:

"Boss, when dat piece o' iron come up thro' de flo' I said to myself—Sam, whar's dat let bin' foot of a rabbit yo' mammy giv' yuh? I done lose it a playin' craps, I did; but who won it? Listen to me: it was de secon' cook. Dat's how we's all hyah safe and sound."

"I knew, of course, that a good stout coupling on the other end of the car did the business—and it did—but Sam couldn't be convinced.

"It was really a remarkable accident, for the couplings on one end of the car did give way."

ENGINEERS' NOTICE.

APPONYI SEES HOPE OF PEACE IN WINTER

Ex Premier of Hungary
Suggests Wilson May Mediate—Warns Against Russia.

BERLIN, via London, Nov. 17.—Count Albert Apponyi, former prime minister of Hungary, who is now in Germany, today expressed the opinion that before the winter is over peace negotiations may be commenced, with prospect of their successful termination, and that President Wilson may be the mediator.

"We cannot expect to see peace negotiations opened while the Rumanian campaign is still undecided," he said. "Once Rumania is crushed, I think both sides will be willing to consider the question of peace. Rumanian was the entente's last card, and is proving a losing one. The entry of Rumania into the war, in many respects, has been advantageous to us."

"Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg has pointed out in his latest speech that he never has demanded the annexation of Belgium. Such instances as these show, in my opinion, that there are now no really insuperable obstacles to the opening of a discussion on peace."

"We feel that President Wilson has not treated us fairly and that he has departed from the way of strict neutrality. But even though one does not like a person that is no reason for rejecting his services when these may be useful."

"I think, if President Wilson is elected, and he no longer has the worries of the campaign, he may prove an altogether different president. I think he will see the opportunity when the moment arrives. America is the leading neutral nation. America still might play the leading role in peace."

Count Apponyi declared that the war should end because all the western nations of Europe should band together against the menace of Russia. Russia, he believes, is the great peril to the future peace of Europe and of the world.

"Once this war is finished," he concluded, "Europe probably will have at least 25 or 30 years of peace."

THE SPIRIT OF SEVENTY-SIX.

Recently Charles F. Case, for fifty-seven years an employee of the Erie railroad, celebrated his 76th birthday upon which occasion his friends gave him a large engraving of the famous picture, "The Spirit of '76". Mr. Case's face being substituted for that of the Revolutionary drummer. Upon the margin President F. D. Underwood inscribed the following: "CHARLES F. CASE—who has become an institution and at the same time an inspiration to us—all his associates and comrades—in that he never grows weary—blows hard or soft. He is the same 'Great Heart'. May he be in Heaven a week before the devil hears of his death!"

Mr. Case is commercial agent of the Erie at 50 Church street, New York, and is probably the best-known of all railroad men dealing with fruit shippers, both in California and New York.

CHICAGO BANK LOANS $5,000,000 TO CHINA

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—The Continental Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago has the "diplomatic support and protection" of the United States government in making a loan of $5,000,000 to the Chinese government, it was announced today. A letter from Secretary of State Lansing, made public by the bank, expresses his gratification over the loan, negotiations for which were concluded yesterday. The loan is for three years at a rate of 6 per cent. The papers were signed in Washington. The loan is a direct obligation of the Chinese Republic, and is secured both as to principal and interest, by revenues derived from the nation's tobacco and wine taxes.

Japan, which has been seeking to dominate Chinese affairs, was not consulted regarding the loan.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Wagering at N. Y. Race Track May Be Prohibited

Even Oral Betting May Be Done Away With in the Future.

By Frank G. Menke.
NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The racing folks in New York state are experiencing shivers in the region of their backbone. They fear the higher New York courts will sustain the lower in ruling that oral race track wagering is illegal. Should the upper court make such a finding—which is thought likely—it will be a terrible blow to the turf sport in the Empire state.

The case—a test one—involves two alleged "layers" only. They were arrested early in the spring charged with accepting bets. A police magistrate found them guilty. They carried the case to the supreme court. It sustained the magistrate. The appellate division took the case later was taken up the supreme court ruling.

And now the case is under consideration by the court of appeals—the final tribunal. If it rules with the other courts it probably means that even oral wagering, which was supposed to be within the law, may not be permitted next year. If such a rule should govern the track, it is believed that it will kill racing again, as interest in the sport is sustained largely by betting.

Hey! Jess! Here's Your Man!
Henry Greb of Pittsburgh, is the logical opponent for Jess Willard. What? Never heard of him? Nothing strange in that. Few have any knowledge of the existence of Greb, who displaces only about half as much tonnage as the heavyweight leader. But Greb rank next to Willard in the "comparative showing" league. And dope is dope, isn't it?

Who was the heir apparent to the throne? Frank Moran—that's right. But Jack Dillon came along and knocked the apparent stuff all askew. Incidentally, his victory over Moran made him the prospective heir. But Jack was foolish enough to mingle twice after that with Battling Levinsky—and Bat beat him. So Bat became the "next in line" to Willard.

However, Billy Miske of St. Paul, took on Bat in an idle hour and whaled him with much eclat. Thus, Miske became the heir apparent. And now we come to Greb.

Two years ago when Greb felt very much in the need of the stuff that buys beef stew, he substituted for a fellow who was to have battled Miske in Philadelphia but "ran out" of the match at the last minute. And Greb beat Miske to the verdict.

Willard vs Greb! On with the fight, men!

Fear Not, Charles, You Won't.

Ever Hear 'em "Pray"?
Golf is not so much a game as a religion, with disciples and apostles in the four corners of the earth; with a mighty and well paid priesthood; with a multitude of ritual ceremony, forms of service and rules for decorous and seemly behavior. It enjoys a distinct and Biblical form of diction; it involves ceremonious convocations, incantations, exaltations, Hitanles, chastening penances for the careless, the culpable, the mal-practitioner; it punishes moral rectitude; it respects feast days and fast days and saints' days; yea, and it surely has its Michaels and its Lucifers.—Alma Whitaker in November issue of Golfers Magazine.

Grace Five Goes to St. Marys Tonight

The Grace church basketball team will journey to St. Marys tonight to battle with a quintet at that place. No dope of any consequence has been received of the outfit they are to stack up against, so the boys from South Lima are going into the game with their strongest line-up.

The decisive scoring made against Piqua here Wednesday night has assured Coach Baccame of a good team and the boys are confident that they will make a record this year. They hope to add the second game of their season to their credit tonight.

Bronchitis.
When a severe cold settles on the lungs it is called bronchitis. There is danger of its leading to broncho pneumonia, and for this reason it is always best to go to bed and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as directed until well along towards recovery. Mrs. Charles E. Woodard, Sundry Creek, N. Y., writes: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured me of bronchitis last fall. When I began using it I was so hoarse at times that it was difficult for me to speak above a whisper. I resorted to the use of this valuable medicine and found it very soothing and healing. In a week's time I was well." Obtainable everywhere. m-w-f

Yale-Princeton to Meet in Grid-iron Tomorrow

Many Other Games Will Be Played in the Eastern States.

Frank G. Menke.
New York, Nov. 17.—The eastern sport program for tomorrow will be headlined by the Yale-Princeton skit down in Princeton. But there will be many other gridiron sketches that will provoke as many thrills and as much interest in their own particular zone of operations, as will the stellar act between the Tiger and Bulldog.

The most important eastern football sketches for tomorrow are these:

Yale vs. Princeton, in Princeton, N. J.
Harvard vs. Brown, in Cambridge, Mass.
Cornell vs. Massachusetts Aggies, in Ithaca, N. Y.

It's a sort of 50-50 proposition in that Yale-Princeton affair. The Tiger line is stronger, but the Yale has driving power superior to that of the Princeton. But in "doping" games which bring together those ancient and honorable enemies, it is well to remember that Yale always has been able to outluck Princeton; that time and again it has sent an inferior team against the Tigers and won the battle.

Bolen Is Forced Out of Lineup

Local Boy Is Suffering With Infected Leg.

Wesley Bolen, Lima boy, who has been making such a remarkable showing with the Ohio State football eleven this year, is suffering from an infected right leg, which may keep him out of the game for the rest of the season. Bolen has been playing for the Buckeyes.

Joe Tinker To Manage Chi. Cubs

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Joe Tinker will succeed himself as manager of the Cubs, it was made known today. The 1916 pilot of the Brains was President Weeghman yesterday and they came to terms. The contract will be signed within two weeks and the "stove league" fans will have to hunt some other topic of conversation.

ELYRIA.—The five-year-old son of Peter Aroheg, playing with matches, ignited loose straw in the barnyard which communicated and destroyed two barns and the entire year's harvest.

"I don't go quite so strong as that," replied Farmer Cornstossel. "If my boy Josh was to work three hours a day two days in succession, I'd think he was doing pretty good."—Washington Star.

NEW YORK.—Cosmo Penize, dependent on lack of employment, plunged under an eight car train on the Long Island railroad. The cars passed over him. The train stopped and Penize emerged unmarked. He was arrested.

Morris Is Winner in Fast Bout

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 17.—

Carl Morris, of Sapulpa, Okla., who failed miserably as a "White Hope" in the days when Jack Johnson wore the heavy weight crown today loomed up as a champion possibility following his defeat last night of Battling Levinsky, of New York.

It is not so much his victory as the improvement which the giant Oklahoman shows that turns the limelight upon him. The Morris of today is a hard hitting, capable fighting machine, fast for a big man. He outweighed Levinsky 50 pounds and had the advantage of reach and height. The battler outpointed him for eight rounds but Morris' stamina and blows counted after that and when the end came Levinsky was worn out and hanging on. Morris was the aggressor in every round of the 15 but his best work was done in the last two rounds.

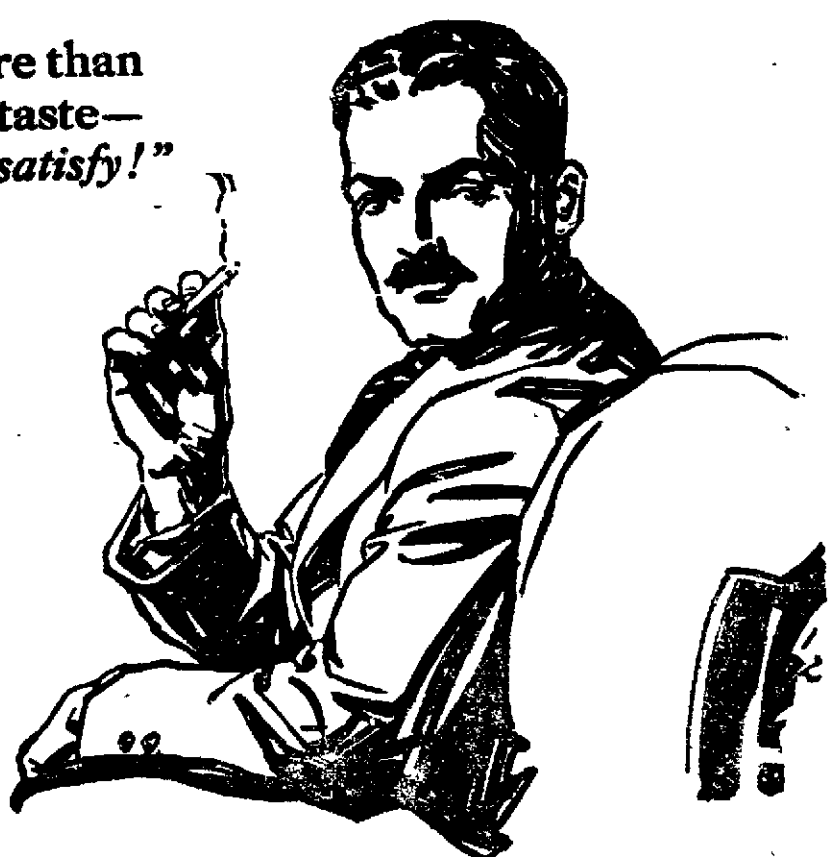

Dope May Be Upset

Football Fields Are Covered With Hay.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Frozen weather resulting in hard gridirons may upset the dope on football fields tomorrow and turn the best laid plans of coaches upside down. Many of the fields have been covered with hay and straw in an effort to overcome this possible handicap. Purdue, which rattles Northwestern at Evanston, is in Chicago ready for the battle. Chicago which plays Illinois leaves today for Urbana.

The Wisconsin team will arrive early today at St. Paul where it will remain until noon tomorrow when it will proceed to Minneapolis for the game with Minnesota. Only light drill was in prospect today for the Michigan team, which will battle Pennsylvania at Ann Arbor tomorrow. The playing field today is covered with snow.

MOVE IS MADE TO HAVE CITIES PAY FOR COUNTY ROADS

Claim is That Auto Travel
From Great Centers Uses
Up the Highways.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 17.—A conspicuous example of what happens to county roads when a city, the center of heavy automobile traffic, fails to contribute toward the building and maintenance of country roads, is found in Spotsylvania county, Va., according to specialists in road economics of the U. S. department of agriculture.

The country districts of Spotsylvania county some years ago issued $170,000 to 4 1/2 and 5 per cent bonds to improve their county roads. Under the Virginia law, the cities of the state are not taxed for county purposes, although they may aid in the improvement of roads for a distance of 10 miles from the city limits if the city council so elects. The city of Fredericksburg, in Spotsylvania county, however, contributed no part of the financial burden of maintaining the county roads. The heavy automobile traffic emanating from that point has proved to be a very destructive element to the county road system, and it was found that rapid deterioration was taking place in the county roads, and insufficient funds existed with which to meet the situation. The county authorities, accordingly, established toll gates on the principal roads and sufficient revenue thus was derived, not only to maintain the roads but actually to extend their construction a short distance. This reversion to a system long since abolished by most counties was partially due at least to the fact that the city in this county had contributed nothing to the upkeep of the roads which residents of that city use extensively for automobiles.

The writers of the report suggest in view of the very rapid development of motor vehicles in the past decade and the prospects of much more widespread use of this means of transportation in the future, the desirability of making provisions so that the cities may aid in the construction and maintenance of roads in the surrounding territory.

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION OPENS IN INDIANAPOLIS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 17.—In the dry column at the coming session of the presidential election, on the possibility of a prohibition amendment in the federal constitution were discussed at the opening of the convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union here today, following the address of the organization's president, Mrs. Anna A. Gordon, of Evanston, Ill.

The convention will continue six days. A novel feature will be the Efficiency Congress, to be held every morning for the purpose of training temperance workers. More than 40 specialists in the different departments of W. C. T. U. service will lecture at these meetings.

A spirit of exultation was noticeable among the thousands of more delegates here today, due to the notable gains by state prohibition this year, as well as the complete failure of the wets to wrest any important white territory from the anti-liquor elements.

THE MAN WITH THE DIRTY FACE

A man with a dirty face and hands, shirt soaked with perspiration, stop, laid down his dinner bucket, and a broken knuckle out of the pain was between the tracks, put it down against the ends of the ties where no one could stumble over it, picked up his dinner bucket and plodded home.

Over 50 other employees had preceded this man, each one carefully picking his way around the obstruction.

I asked this man why he took the trouble to roll the knuckle out of the pathway. He seemed surprised at such a question, rubbed his hand across his face and said: "Why, some of the boys might get a bad fall if that knuckle was there after dark."

I said: "All the other men passed it by," and he replied: "Oh, they're all good boys, they'd have done the same if they'd thought about it."

He said something, didn't he? "If they'd thought about it." Ah, yes, "if they'd thought about it."

"GETS-IT" NEVER FAILS FOR CORNS!

There's Nothing on Earth Like It for Corns and Calluses.

"Whenever you get corns and calluses, don't experiment—just use 'GETS-IT' and nothing else. Easiest and simplest thing I know to use—just a few drops on a few seconds."

and—'GETS-IT' does the rest! The old way is to bundle up your toes in harnesses and bandages, use salves that make toes raw, cotton rings that make your corns pop-eyed, knives and 'diggers' that tear your heart out and leave the corn in. No wonder they make you limp and wince. Forget all those—use 'GETS-IT,' the simplest corn remedy in the world, easiest to use, never fails or sticks, painless. Your corn loosens, then you lift it off. You can wear smaller shoes.

'GETS-IT' is sold and recommended by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent on receipt of price, by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Sold in Lima and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by H. F. Vorkamp, M. Keltner, Hunter's Drug Store, Butler's Drug Store
